After data collection the data is stored as long as it is necessary to comply with the legal retention periods defined to fulfil the specific tasks.

10. Rights of the Data Subjects

Pursuant to the European GDPR you, the data subject, have the following rights:

If your personal data is processed, you have the right of information on which data concerning you was processed (art. 15 GDPR).

In case inaccurate personal data was processed, you have the right to obtain rectification of the data concerning you (art. 16 GDPR).

Where the legal requirements are met, you may request erasure of your data or restriction of processing and object to the processing of the data concerning you (art. 17, 18 and 21 GDPR).

If you have consented to data processing or a contract pertaining to data processing exits or data processing is carried out by automated means, you have the right of data portability – where applicable (art. 20 GDPR).

Should you exercise any of the rights mentioned above, the controller reviews if the legal requirements are met for this purpose.

To exercise your rights please contact the Data Protection Officer in charge. In case of any data protection complaints you can contact the competent supervisory authority, the Berlin Commissioner for Data Protection and Freedom of Information (Berliner Beauftragte für Datenschutz und Informationsfreiheit).

II. Right of Revocation of Consent

If you have consented to the processing of your personal data by the controller having made an according declaration, you may revoke the consent with effect for the future at any time. The lawfulness of data processing carried out until the revocation remains unaffected by this due to your former consent.
